

Approximately 70 young entrepreneurs set up shop in the Marion Klingel Town Commons Saturday as part of Kid Biz. The element of Island Happenings provides youth the marketplace for selling goods and services of all kinds. More photos of participants can be found at www.wnypapers.com.

ISLAND HAPPENINGS

Kid Biz

Eye Catcher Jewelry
Marina Wittmann sets up her display shortly after opening her business, Eye Catcher Jewelry.

Alex's Games -n- Cards

Alex Brennan makes a sale at Alex's Games -n- Cards. He shared "storefront property" in the Town Commons with his brother, Brian, of Brian's Sports Cards.

Celebrate the 4th of July!

Just in time for the Independence Day holiday, Jessica Surace, left, and Kera Schaser, two 10-year-olds from Grand Island, sold patriotic goods at Celebrate the 4th of July!

Moosie

Team Moose-kateers sold fried dough moose tongue at Island Happenings, a fundraiser for the team's Relay For Life efforts. Moosie, the team mascot, and volunteers were on hand to round up the hungry. From left, Hannah Corrao, Jenna Stufkosky and Emily Glose.

Fantastic Flip Toys

Owners of Fantastic Flip Toys quickly sold half their inventory of toys. Ryan McDonald, Allison McDonald and, in back, Justin Kozlowski.

Fuzzy Farm

Fuzzy Farm entrepreneurs Abigail Chambers, left, and Danielle Duck sold pencils, magnets and bookmarks, most of which were soft and fuzzy.

Holly's Flower Shop

Holly Lutnick, 11, of GI, sold flowers "Good enough to fool bees," as the company motto claimed, at Holly's Flower Shop.

Reflections

Ali Price of Reflections checks out her reflection as she puts on one of the earrings she sold at her accessory shop.

H&G's Store

Heather Robinson, right, is the H and Gillian Worrall is the G of H&G's Store, which sold candles, platters and flowers. They also made the handy water bottle holders they're wearing around their necks.

Rock Out

Rock Out, a Kid Biz enterprise, offered the musically inclined an opportunity to play "Guitar Hero," courtesy of proprietors Noah Fuller Delmont, on guitar, and Logan Fuller-Delmont, on drums.