

Lauren Daigle performing at Artpark Amphitheater

Tickets on sale at 10 a.m. Friday, March 31

Two-time Grammy Award-winning singer-songwriter Lauren Daigle will perform at the Artpark Amphitheater at 7:30 p.m. Friday, July 14. Tickets go on sale at 10 a.m. Friday, March 31.

In addition, Daigle is also set to perform "Thank God I Do" on the "Today Show" next Thursday, March 30 – marking the song's network television premiere.

A press release noted, " 'Thank God I Do' is Lauren's biggest first week streaming song across all DSPs, has been added to a record breaking 120-plus radio stations across multiformats in just its first week, and is her strongest single launch at radio to date. The song also received major acclaim, with Billboard writing, 'The piano ballad features the signature soar that fans have been waiting to return, but her voice has deepened with time, matching the epic sweep of the strings on the track and readying the masses for a prolonged showcase.' "

Her anticipated U.S. arena trek, "The Kaleidoscope Tour," is set for fall and will feature many of Daigle's No. 1s, including her groundbreaking smash "You Say," "Rescue" and "Look Up Child"; plus her new single, "Thank God I Do"; as well as music from her forthcoming self-titled album, which will include 20 songs released in two parts this spring and later this year.

This concert is presented by AEG Presents, Funtime & Artpark.

General admission lawn tickets (no carry-in chair allowed, blankets are permitted) are $35, while general admission bowl tickets (no carry-in chair allowed, blankets are permitted) are $55 and front-of-stage tickets (standing only) are $85.
