

Mount St. Mary's Hospital Neighborhood Health Center receives COVID-19 antibody grant funding

Daughters of Charity Ministries Inc., through its mission and ministry impact program, has awarded Mount St. Mary's Neighborhood Health Center $20,000 to provide free COVID-19 antibody testing at the center, located at 3101 Ninth St., Niagara Falls.

A press release said, "Since 1992, Mount St. Mary's Hospital has operated the NHC, serving individuals and families through out Niagara Falls, regardless of their ability to pay. Even before the pandemic, many Niagara Falls residents were experiencing long-term health disparities, community isolation, and related health challenges. The impact of COVID-19 has been disproportionately severe for those whose health was already at risk, heightening the existing disparity between residents."

"Offering COVID antibody testing at a location like the Neighborhood Health Center is consistent with the holistic approach of our clinic," said Sister Nora Sweeney, DC, a case manager at the center. "By integrating this testing with other services offered at the center, patients will have greater access to care in a setting where their health care provider is among professionals who are sensitive to their needs and situation."

Antibody testing works in conjunction with COVID-19 testing by identifying individuals who are immune to the virus that causes COVID-19. A positive antibody test indicates the patient was likely infected with COVID-19 in the past and may have some immunity to the virus. Antibody testing can also give public health officials a better understanding of the presence of infection in the community and assist in research efforts related to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Mount St. Mary's NHC provides comprehensive family practice, prenatal and pediatric care. Those interested in COVID-19 antibody testing or accessing other health care services at the NHC are encouraged to call 716-284-8917.

Oral rabies vaccine distribution anticipated to begin as early as next week

The Niagara County Department of Health Environmental Division is part of a collaborative effort to prevent the spread of raccoon rabies in the Western New York region through dissemination of oral rabies vaccine (ORV). Partners include Niagara, Erie, Orleans, Genesee, Cattaraugus, Wyoming and Chautauque county health departments; New York State Department of Health, Agriculture & Markets; USDA/Wildlife Services Program of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS); the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry (Canada); Tuscarora and Seneca nations; and Cornell University, among others.

This is the eighth year Niagara County has participated in the field trial to study the efficacy of ORV against rabies in the wild. The field test will include aerial and hand distribution of rabies vaccine-containing baits (ONRAB brand). Hand baiting is anticipated to begin the week of Aug. 10 through the end of the month. Fixed-wing aircraft and helicopter distribution are anticipated to be a five-day distribution event sometime between Aug. 10-31. Exact timing is affected by flight disparities and delays (such as weather).

Raccoons are vaccinated against rabies when they eat the wildlife rabies vaccine that is contained in the baits.

"During the baiting period, residents may see and hear low-flying aircraft and observe program staff distributing green packets by hand and car around Niagara Falls neighborhoods," said Paul Dicky, Niagara County environmental health director.

The green ONRAB baits are about the size of a matchbox and are comprised of vegetable shortening, wax, icing sugar, vegetable oil and flavoring. Humans and pets cannot get rabies from the bait.

It is anticipated 628,400 baits will be distributed over participating counties as indicated in the New York State Wildlife Rabies Vaccination Program, Wildlife Rabies Vaccination Zone 2020 Map. If one finds ORV baits, leave them alone, unless they are found where children or pets play. Follow ORV recommendations (below).

"Terrestrial rabies cases have persisted in WNY counties since the early 1990s. Rabies continues to be a serious public health concern, and fatal in unvaccinated animals," Public Health Director Daniel Stapleton said. "Immunization of wildlife will help to reduce the number of rabies cases and prevent the continued spread of this fatal virus. Members of the community can help by monitoring their children and pets, and by keeping pets up to date with rabies vaccinations."

If residents have additional questions related to the ORV ONRAB field trial, they can contact the Environmental Health Division at 716-439-7444. Information may also be found by visiting <https://www.health.ny.gov/diseases/communicable/zoonoses/rabies/wildlife.htm>.

ORV Recommendations
 ✓ Wash your hands immediately if you come into direct contact with the vaccine or bait, then call 1-888-574-6656.

✓ Supervise children's outdoor activities during bait distribution and for one week afterward.

✓ Confine dogs and cats indoors and observe leash laws during the bait distribution interval, and for one week afterward. This will increase the probability of raccoon vaccination and will decrease the chance of pets finding the baits.

✓ The baits and vaccines are not harmful to domestic animals; however, an animal may vomit if it consumes several baits. Do not risk being bitten while trying to remove a bait from your pet's mouth.

✓ Call 1-888-574-6656 if you see your pet with bait in its mouth and cannot read the label.

✓ If baits are observed in the environment, leave them alone. Labels identify the bait: "Rabies Vaccine DO NOT EAT, Live adenovirus vector. MNR 1-888-574-6656."

✓ If a bait is intact and out in the open where pets or children may find it, toss the bait under trees or bushes. Wear gloves or use a plastic bag to pick up the bait

✓ If a bait is broken and the liquid vaccine is visible, wear gloves, and cover the bait and affected area with a 1:10 solution of bleach and water, place the bait in a plastic bag, and dispose of the bag in the household trash.
